

Medical Disaster Preparedness

Definition: A disaster is a man made or natural emergency/event that disrupts a community's normal function, and causes concern for the safety, property and lives of its citizens. A disaster is an event that exceeds the capabilities and resources of the community to respond.

During this program, Daniel Huie, MD, will introduce practical principles of medical disaster preparedness and provide available resources for disaster preparation. You will learn how to be individually prepared for a disaster and what community and government resources are available to you.

Thursday, October 21
6:30pm – 7:30pm

321 Middlefield Rd., Suite 260
Menlo Park, CA 94025

To register for this event, visit menloclinic.com/prepare or call 650.721.1411. Seating is limited.

Dr. Daniel Huie is a board certified in Family Medicine and has additional clinical interests in preventive, emergency and wilderness medicine. He is a reserve police officer and tactical officer for the Hillsborough Police Department and the Medical Director for the North Central San Mateo Regional SWAT medics. Dr. Huie completed his medical education at Loyola University's Stritch School of Medicine in Chicago and medical training at O'Connor Hospital in San Jose, CA. Prior to joining Menlo Medical Clinic, he was in private practice for over ten years.

 MENLO
MEDICAL CLINIC
Affiliated with
Stanford Hospital & Clinics